What's New Here? It's HOT

- Tucson, saw its hottest day in more than 20 years when it topped out at 115 degrees on June 19th. This temperature has been reached or exceeded there only four other times dating back to 1894.

SAD SAD NEWS: As an example of just how hot it has been here, as well as, the seriousness of the issue here is an excerpt for the Washington Post!

"The Pima County Sheriff's Department said Tuesday that after a day-long search in heat-scorched Ventana Canyon they had recovered the body of 33-year-old Marcus Turowski. He was one of three men from Germany who set off hiking over the weekend, only one of whom returned alive. They were hiking on the Ventana Canyon Trail in the Santa Catalina Mountains just north of Tucson on Sunday. As temperatures began cresting above 115 degrees in the mountains, the heat drained the hikers and their strength so insidiously that only one could walk to summon help. The others lay helpless, baking on the trail".

The heat also claimed the lives of three local hikers last weekend, a 25 year-old, a 28 year-old and a 19 year-old.

Warning: Everyone should stop all kinds of outdoor activities during the heat wave, according to Pima County Sheriff Chris Nanos.

Last Sunday: Yuma 120 degrees (breaking the record set in 1960) Phoenix 118 degrees (breaking the record from 1968).

While we sleep our local cactus have been quietly blooming.
